

Welcome to My Airstream Blog!

Friday, 07 July 2006

Hi and welcome to my Airstream site!

As devoted campers, and teardrop trailer enthusiasts, Kate and I have begun our quest to upgrade to a new camper. Now spending more than 30 nights of camping each summer, we decided we needed something a bit more suited to dealing with rainy days, and capable of doubling as an office when need be. Considering we are heavily involved in the Internet, being able to work from the trailer was key to expanding our camping experience and increasing our time on the road and at the campground.

This site serves to document our quest for a new Airstream, technical info, improvements, experiences, photos and whatever else that may be of interest to others looking into the world of Airstreams.